

Heidi Winzinger

"Like some toe tapping Pop, creamed into good old Folk, topped with some Rock all baked up and presented by one of the finest singer songwriters you will ever hear."

A native Jersey girl, Heidi was influenced by old time Country music her father loves. As she developed her own taste, it included everything from Johnny Cash to Neil Diamond and Pink Floyd.

With a dream to work her own farm, Heidi studied agriculture in college while continuously nurturing her love of singing and writing. Today Heidi preserves farmland in New Jersey, is a proponent of supporting local agriculture and an advocate for animal rights and rescue.

She writes songs which combine her influences of Folk, Country, and Rock in her own unique style. Telling stories of women losing themselves to their jobs, the loss of farmland to development, the friendly feeling a snow day brings, celebrating a beloved dog and the fabled Jersey Devil.

"Heidi Winzinger has got such a clear voice, really perfect for an emotional travel throughout these beautiful songs ..."

-Mike PENARD American Roots Music / ISA Radio /FRANCE

"Heidi Winzinger is a songwriter that deserves to be known 'cause she's a very talented one. "Honeysuckle Dream" has many songs that fit perfectly with the way I intend music to be...intelligent and heartfelt."

- Remo Ricaldone, American Roots Radio, Italy

"...Heidi Winzinger has proven to be a more than pleasant surprise."

-Ed Muijens, Johnny's Garden, the Netherlands

"...this one may bring tears to your eyes, but they'll be tears of a good sort. - Dogtime Blog

"If Neko Case and Ryan Adams had a child, her name would be Heidi Winzinger" -Melissa Nastasi
